A Tradition of over 200 years of Brewing

Samuel Whitbread I of Cardington, Bedfordshire established his Brewery in the City of London in the 1740's.

He built his reputation on the quality of his beers, constantly striving to improve standards. Today,

WHITBREAD still combines the Art and Science of Brewing with research as Samuel Whitbread I did in his day, because WHITBREAD intends that what he began in the 1740s continues into the 1980s.

INTRODUCTION

This Supplement to the sixth edition of Real Beer in London has been produced by the London branches of the Campaign for Real Ale, firstly to record the many additional pubs in Greater London now selling real ale, secondly to bring up to date those entries where changes have taken place in the range of real ales available, and thirdly to indicate those (few) pubs where real ale is no longer sold.

The only criteria for inclusion in the Supplement, as with the guide proper, is that real ale should be available. No attempt has been made to select pubs on the basis of quality, price, facilities etc. Armed with the basic information the reader is invited to make his or her own choice. Up to 250 of the very best real ale pubs in Greater London are selected for inclusion in CAMRA's national Good Beer Guide, published annually.

The past 18 months, since the publication of the sixth edition of the guide in December 1981 has seen a dramatic increase in real ale availability in Greater London. Some 1,250 additional pubs now dispense real ale and are listed in the Supplement. Over 3,500 pubs within Greater London (65%) now sell real ale.

The Big Six brewers in particular, who between them control 90% of London pubs, have finally grasped the nettle and are making a determined effort to install handpumps to dispense their traditional beers.

The range of real ales available in pubs controlled by most of the Big Brewers is also increasing. Trumans have introduced a brand new range of traditional beers including a mild. Taylor Walker (Allied) have introduced a new dark beer with a famous name from the past - Mainline. Whitbread, Watney and most recently Charrington, not to be outdone, are importing more traditional beers from far flung parts of their empires. Beers from Gloucestershire, Yorkshire and the West Midlands are appearing alongside more familiar brands.

There are also encouraging signs that the brewery 'tie' is loosening slightly with the products of certain regional brewers such as Ruddles supplementing Watneys own beers. There are also a number of Whitbread and Watney (Chef & Brewer) pubs becoming 'free houses' with a selection of traditional beers from various regional brewers. Chef & Brewer have even opened a home-brew pub, the Orange in SW1.

Alongside the new traditional beers a more traditional image is being presented. Following the example set by Ind Coope, Watneys have reverted to a former title Watney, Combe, Reid; and Trumans have once again become Trumans, Hanbury and Buxton.

The regional independent brewers continue to increase their tied estates within London with Gibbs Mews from Wiltshire and Eldridge Pope from Dorset acquiring pubs in London for the first time. More pubs have been sold off by the Big Brewers as free houses, particularly in North and East London, and a handful of new licensed outlets have sprung up, particularly in the City and North London areas.

The London small brewers have had more mixed fortunes. Three new home/brew pubs have opened, the Lion in Croydon, the Market Porter in SE1, and Bruce's Pheasant and Firkin in EC1. The Tower Brewery in SE1 has opened a pub at the brewery premises. The two Brewpubs home brew pubs have however ceased brewing, and the future of the latest London small brewery to be established, the Union Brewery at Hayes, is in doubt after the liquidation of the parent company. Godsons have temporarily ceased brewing in London whilst new premises are sought, although their beers continue to be brewed elsewhere.

Real beer in London

Limited numbers of the sixth edition of main Real Beer in London guide are still available. The guide lists 2300 real ale pubs in Greater London with comments and details of facilities. The pubs are located on 48 detailed maps including 14 street maps covering a large area of Central London from Maida Vale and Earls Court in the west to Shoreditch and Walworth in the east. 32 maps of major suburban centres throughout Greater London are also included from Romford to Uxbridge and Barnet to Croydon.

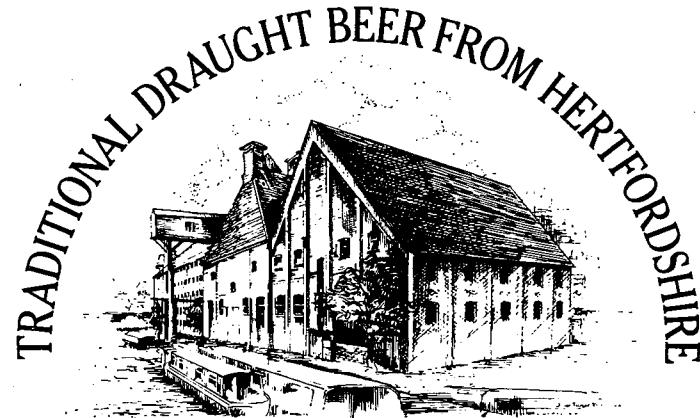

The guide is available to purchasers of this supplement for the reduced price of £1.50 (was £1.95). Send cheques or postal orders (made payable to CAMRA London) and a 9" x 6", 21p s.a.e., to RBIL, 82 Cavendish Avenue, Harrow, Middx.

HOW TO USE THE SUPPLEMENT

Pubs are listed in the Supplement in the same order and format as in the main guide. All new entries, changes to ranges, deletions and corrections are listed in alphabetical order by postal district, or outer London district. London is divided into 7 sectors - Central, East, North, North West, South East, South West and West. For a full explanation, consult the main Real Beer in London guide and maps.

- The following points should be noted:
1. Additions to the range of real ales available are indicated by a + sign, deletions by a - sign.
  2. All beers listed are dispensed by handpump (H) unless otherwise stated.
  3. Corrections to pub names, addresses, and opening hours for existing entries in the main guide are underlined.

4. Some Watney pubs listed in the Supplement may still have DCL air pressure pumps alongside proper handpumps. Only beers dispensed on proper handpumps at the time of survey are listed, but the Company has said that all DCL pumps are due to be replaced by May 1983, and hence the range of traditional beers should increase accordingly in those pubs.
5. No descriptions or facilities are included in the Supplement due to lack of space.
6. Late entries included on p.139 of the main guide have also been included in the Supplement for ease of reference, and treated as new entries.
7. Late entries to the Supplement have, where space allowed, been included at the end of each sector. Remaining late entries appear on p.64.

The Orange Brewery is London's newest brewery. Under the guidance of a lady Brewer two new ales, SW1 and SW2, are brewed just for the Orange's own customers. The basement brewery can be seen from the bars through a periscope.

Extensively restored to its original 18th century condition, the Orange Brewery now has a fine new bar with gas lighting and fires. A full range of beers, lagers and wines are available alongside the pub's home brewed ales. The adjoining Victorian style Pie & Ale Shop has home made food available every day — which like the beers can also be taken away.

Today's managers of the Orange Brewery are Maurice and Anne Barrett. They assure you of a warm welcome in one of London's finest real ale pubs.
